Invisible Architecture In this project Christian Galarreta (PE / NL) and Janneke van der Putten (NL) explore the architecture of the Maastunnel through its surrounding sounds, subtle acoustic phenomena and through the use of source materials that can highlight hidden characteristics: resonances and reverberations are emphasized and prolonged through interaction with the sound space. In this project Galarreta & Van der Putten want to make the acoustic reflections audible. The frequencies, amplitude and modulation of sound textures are responding to the acoustic qualities of the chosen site.

A workshop is taking place during the Open Monumentendag and as part of Galarreta's and Van der Putten's site-specific research in the Maastunnel, from 1 to 16 September 2015. Results of this process will be shown in spring 2016. Supported by Gemeente Rotterdam and Mya - NAC culture fund.

The first version of 'Invisible Architecture' took place in a light-tower. An installation of this work is presented in the exhibition All Begins With A at TENT, Witte de Withstraat 50, 3012 BR Rotterdam, until 28th September 2015.

'Invisible Architecture' workshop with sound-researchers Christian Galarreta and Janneke van der Putten

“In this experiential workshop we will observe the acoustic characteristics of a special site: the Maastunnel. We will do sound-walks and performative experiments in the walking-path and entrance hall, for example the listening of electromagnetic fields, the collective singing of tones and the recording of other acoustic phenomena.”
